Hi Angela,

I have a couple again:

Office of Inspector General (OIG) Hotline Inquiry. An inquiry was made to EPA's OIG hotline regarding EPA's role in a public information campaign regarding agricultural non-point source pollution and its effects on water quality (the "Whatsupstream.com" campaign). This campaign is funded under the Tribal Lead Organization (Northwest Indian Fisheries Commission) through a subaward to the Swinomish Indian Tribal Community (SITC). Peter and Lisa, as well as Garth Wright from ORC, met with Madeline Mullen and other OIG personnel on Monday 3/21 and answered a series of questions about our activities relating to the award and subaward. The OIG asked for copies of all SITC subaward progress reports as well as all of their proposals related to the campaign, which we provided. The OIG will conduct further research, confer with OIG counsel and management, and then either request further information from us or end this inquiry.

U.S. Consul-General Reception. The U.S. Consul-General in Vancouver is hosting a reception on Tuesday 4/12 celebrating shared waters and the Salish Sea Ecosystem Conference. EPA and EC staff developed a list of approximately 80 regional leaders consistent with priorities in the EPA-EC Statement of Cooperation on the Puget Sound-Georgia Basin Ecosystem and its current Action Plan. Invitations went out on 3/23. Dennis and his counterpart at Environment Canada, Caroline Caza, are the special guests/co-leaders of this reception.
